HOUSE WANTS TO CUT ARMY EXPENDITURE

Champions of Strong Defense Will Oppose Proposal to Cut Strength

By WILLIAM S. NEAL

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10--Champions of a strong national defense were aroused today by suggestions of the house appropriation committee to abandon the national defense act plan of maintaining reserves for an army of 1,000,000 men and whittling down the regular army to reduce military expenditures.

These proposals, laid before Congress for consideration without definite recommendation by the committee, are declared to be the most sweeping proposed since President Hoover announced his program for reorganization of the army to achieve economy.

They would require revision of the national defense act of 1920 upon which the present national defense system is modeled. The plan calls for a regular army of but 125,000 men ,but maintenance of a large reserve and war supplies and ammunition for a million men.

SERIOUS PROBLEM

"This plan would change the whole national defense policy and ought not to be acted upon without serious consideration," said Representative Wainwright (R) of New York, member of the military affairs committee and an ex-secretary of war.

Rep. Melvin J. Maas (R) of Minnesota, member of the "Soldiers' bloc," predicted the American legion and all other similar organizations would urge a fight against the suggestions.

"Our national defense plan is based upon our minimum requirements and any reduction at all would destroy the whole plan," said Maas. "We might as well wipe out the army altogether.

"The idea of cutting the regular army is even worse. We barely have enough in the army now to train the civilian components, such as the national guard, reserve corps and for training camps. I believe the American legion and all other patriotic organizations would be opposed to the plans."

With the appropriations committee suggesting economy and the army supply bill for next year, totalling over $455,000,000 larger than last year ,the house faced a real fight over the question of army expenditures.

R. O. T. C. OBJECT

The national guard, officers' reserve corps and the R. O. T. C. are the objects of attack of a small group of house members.

Rep. Collins (D) of Mississippi, minority leader on the appropriations committee, has charged these groups have developed into a great political organization with the object of getting appropriations and maintaining a big military machine.

"We have around 700,000 people getting pap and pay in these organizations," he told International News Service. "Their appropriations are getting so large and their influence so great that a member of congress hardly dares vote against them because they will be knifed politically. We now have the biggest army we ever had."

At the same time another group is assailing the committee because it slashed $2,000,000 off the budget bureau's recommendations for army housing.

WARN FLORIDA OF TROUBLE

Weather Bureau Says Disturbance Heading Toward Coast

NEW YORK, Jan. 10 — The weather bureau today warned of a "disturbance" heading slowly toward the Florida coast from the Bahamas.

The warning declared the disturbance to be of moderate force and centered about 300 miles east northeast of Nassua. The center of the disturbance had moved only about 10 miles in the past 24 hours, according to estimates here.

BLASTS ROCK PHILADELPHIA

Three Persons in Critical Condition, 100 Others Suffer Minor Injury

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 10—With three persons in a critical condition and about 100 others suffering from less serious injuries, following four explosions in the partly demolished Globe theatre building which rocked the heart of this city, officials today began an investigation to determine the cause of the blasts.

The explosions occurred after a fire was discovered in the building during the height of the rush hour last night. It is believed sparks from the flames fell into an open acetylene tank and caused the blasts.

Debris thrown high into the air by the force of the explosions caused the crowds on Market and Juniper-sts to scurry for safety in panic.

Heavy timbers and bricks which fell in the city hall Plaza opposite, damaged many cars parked there. Most of the windows on the east side of the city hall were broken. Several window panes in the Wanamaker store nearby also were shattered.

The fact that the fire was discovered before the first explosion ocurred prevented greater casualties. As soon as the flames were discovered a cordon of police and firemen were thrown about the building and pedestrians were thus some distance away when the blasts began.

BLAZE ROUTS 300 IN HOTEL

Fire to Adjoining Building Does $200,000 Damage To Men's Store

HUNTINGTON, W. VA., Jan. 10—More than 300 guests in the Frederick Hotel here were routed out of bed early today when fire gutted the adjoining four-story building, which was occupied by the M. D. Angel Company, a retail man's clothing and furnishings store.

Pending official investigation firemen estimated the lost at approximately $200,000.

The adjoining Gallagher Drug company, with headquarters in Dayton, Ohio, were endangered by the blaze, which was in the heart of the downtown section.

Showers of sparks fell over the business district but they caused no damage. Transportation and traffic were disrupted.

BLAZE DOES $50 DAMAGE

Fire in Apartment Over Kroger Store Caused by Gas Light

A gas light, which caught a door frame afire did $50 damage in the rooms occupied by Mrs. Stella Coleman over the Kroger store at the corner of Court and Ohio-sts, at 3:30 p. m. Thursday. Firemen who answered the call extinguished the blaze with water.

The fire started when the gas light, which had evidently been burning for a considerable time, heated the door frame until it caught fire The blaze which had spread over the top of the frame, had burned the wall on both sides of the door and had started back into the wall when firemen got it under control

Plastering from the ceiling in the room fell on a bed

A call early Friday morning to the south end of town proved to be a false alarm.

A bad fire at the residence of Clarence Havens, Lovers' Lane caused $15 damage at 2:30 p. m. Friday.

PRESIDENT TO REMIT REPORT OF DRY FORCES

Hoover Bows to Wishes of House Leaders—Takes Action on Monday

By GEORGE E. DURNO

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10— (INS)—President Hoover today bowed to the wishes of the House leaders and made it known that on Monday he will send to Congress the several preliminary reports of his law enforcement commission on the question of prohibition enforcement.

With this gesture, the President abandoned his hope of having a joint-select committee consider the ways and means of tightening up enforcement of the dry laws.

The only desire of Mr. Hoover is that Congress expedite the legislation which his law enforcement commission is recommending. He made it known that he would adapt himself to the wishes of the house leaders as to the methods by which the proposals would be considered.

Further, he promised to place the various administrative officials of the government at the disposal of the several House committees which will take up various phases of the prohibition enforcement problem.

FOLLOWS STATEMENT

The White House announcement came hard on the heels of a statement by speaker of the House Longworth, that House leaders were opposed to formation of a joint committee which would take away preliminary functions from already established committees of the house.

The refusal of Longworth and his assistants to permit House members of any joint committee to report direct to the house itself in the opinion of the President, only would entail further delay and for this reason he relinquished his fight for creation of such a body.

The report of the law enforcement commission, which goes to congress Monday, will deal with four subjects:

Relief of court docket congestion.

Transfer of prohibition enforcement activities of the government to the department of justice.

Improvement of border patrols and solution of the port of entry problem.

Codification of the 25 federal statues under which prohibition is now being enforced.

PROMISE HELP

Rep. John Q. Tilson of Connecticut, house Republican leader, promised the enactment of any legislation the president wants to enforce the dry day despite the disagreement of house leaders over the method of preparing it.

Minimizing the "break" between the White House and House leaders, Tilson said:

"It is not a question of a split with the White House—Just a question of difference of opinion over the method of procedure. Any statement that there is a split is a gross exaggeration Throughout the house, so far as I know there is no desire to disagree with the main purpose of the President's main purpose, which is to make the necessary transfers.

"Nothing definite has been determined. I suppose the departments will send down their recommendations and I am sure that the house will act as promptly as possible on them."

4 PRISONERS ESCAPE JAIL

Three Juveniles Among Those Who Flee Butler-co Prison Friday

HAMILTON, O., Jan. 10—Four prisoners, three of them juveniles, escaped from the Butler-co prison under the cover of darkness early today. They dug their way through a brick wall.

Those at large are:

McKinley Ponder, 33, accused of hog stealing and supposed ring-leader in the break.

Elbert Halcombe, 17, charged with robbery.

William Waddell, 17, accused of auto stealing.

Owen Spicer, 17, who was arrested on a charge of driving an automobile without license tags.

Ponder was being held in the juvenile ward for safe keeping. He had confessed to crimes involving prisoners in the adult section of the jail.

An immediate search was started for the escaped prisoners.

TWO SLAIN IN CHICAGO WAR

Bandit Dies and Policeman Is Badly Hurt in Fierce Revolver Duels

CHICAGO Jan 10 One bandit slain, another seriously wounded and a policeman shot was the toll today of two revolver duels.

Brandishing a revolver, Robert Joyce leaped on a moving automobile. A policeman, Charles Binder, gave chase and Joyce emptied his gun at him, wounding Binder in the arm

The bandit commandeered a taxicab but his flight ended when two detectives dragged him from the cab, weak from two bullet wounds.

An unidentified negro was slain as he and a companion attempted to hold up Frank Armstrong.

JEALOUSY, CAUSED BY LOVE, INCENTIVE IN TWO DEATHS

TOLEDO, O., Jan. 10—(INS)—Jealousy, prompted by love, was the incentive in the fatal shooting of Mrs. Mabel Follett, 35, and the serious wounding of her husband, Kenneth, 27, here today by Fred Stahl, 45, a roomer, who afterwards committed suicide, according to police.

A five year-old son of the Foletis, Kenneth, Jr., was awakened by the shots, but he rolled over and went back to sleep, he afterwards told police.

Stahl, according to the meager details, invaded the bedroom of Mr. and Mrs. Folett and shot and killed Mrs. Folette and seriously wounded her husband. He then turned the gun on himself and died almost instantly.

WALKED DOWNSTAIRS

Follett, in his scanty night attire, staggered downstairs and summoned neighbors. He then collapsed.

Police believe that Stahl was in love with Mrs Follett. They say that Mrs. Follett was unaware of Stahl's affections, however.

When taken to the hospital, Follett, an insurance solicitor, said that Stahl had been out of work for two weeks. He expressed the belief that Stahl had suddenly gone insane.

Authorities held to the former motive

Mrs. Follett was described by friends as a beautiful woman.

Stahl apparently had been contemplating the shooting throughout the night. [illegible] a neighbor of the Follett[illegible] returned from work According to Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Longworth, the neighbors, Stahl said he bought Mrs. Follett a diamond, several dresses, a radio and some furniture.

"I spent $700 on Mrs. Follett in three months," the neighbors quoted Stahl as saying.

KIWANIS HAS ANNIVERSARY

Local Club to Have Program As Part of Nation-Wide Celebration

"The Kiwanis club of Circleville will during the week of Jan. 19 to 25 join with 1851 other clubs of Kiwanis International in observance of the fifteenth anniversary of the founding of the organization," Tom A. Renick, president of the local Club announced today.

"Kiwanis International was organized in Detroit in 1915 and the first regular meeting was held on Jan 21 of that year. The membership of Kiwanis International, totaling more than 102,000, is contained in Clubs located in 1852 cities large and small, in the United States and Canada. Horace W. McDavid of Decatur, Illinois, is the International President, having been elected at the June, 1929 convention at Milwaukee, Wisconsin. Kiwanis will hold its 1930 convention in Atlantic City, New Jersey June 29 to July 3.

"The Circleville club is now six months old" said President Renick "and we have enjoyed the growth and development that has come to the International organization of which we are a chartered local unit. RIVER WATERS OVER HIGHWAY WEST OF CITY

Scioto Up To 14 Feet, Seven Inches — Temperature Drops 30 Degrees

Traffic west of Circleville over the Williamsport pike was cut off Thursday evening when water from the overflowed Scioto river covered the highway for a short distance reaching a depth of two feet at certain places. School busses and all other traffic was traveling over the Fox Post Office road.

The river reached its highest point at 14 feet seven inches early Friday and according to Dr. H. R. Clarke, weather observer, was dropping slowing at noon Friday.

A cold wave which is general throughout the state fell over Circleville and Pickaway-co Friday when the mercury which had hovered around the 55 degree mark Thursday dropped to 25 degrees Friday. The cold weather is to become more intense according to weather reports.

Encased under a thick spread of ice following one of the worst sleet storms in years, the greater portion of Ohio lay virtually paralyzed today with communication systems badly crippled and traffic perilously demoralized.

Especially in northern Ohio was the situation serious. Held in a vise of sleet and ice, many bus companies throughout this section cancelled all trips westward today while airplane transportation was cut off entirely. Interurban service between Elyria, Oberlin, and Wellington was completely at a standstill.

Nearly 70 long distance telephone circuits were reported out of commission by the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. because of broken wires that were snapped by the heavy weight of ice clinging to them.

Temperatures continued to sag this morning, with drops to 20 degrees or less being reported from various sections.

The sudden freeze, however failed to head off threatened flood tides of rivers in several districts. At Warren, O., last night, the Mahoning river steadily swelled and several towns in the southern part of the state reported that the rising rivers and streams threatened to inundate streets.

Indian Lake stood today at the highest level it has since the 1913 flood, according to residents in that district. The Sandusky river was reported full to the banks and other waterways throughout the state were reported in similar conditions. One road out of Marion was reported under water in several places.

At Greencamp, O., school officials discontinued classes because the children were unable to reach the school.

As the state attempted to crack through its ice covering this morning and survey the damage toll of winter's first offering to 1930, reports sifted through that many towns and villages throughout the state—especially in the northern section—are completely cut off from the outside world.

Communications in approximately 200 towns and villages in northern Ohio are crippled, latest reports from the telephone company said. Wellington and Avon are completely cut off from the outside.

Galion, Bucyrus, Ashland, Shelby, Mansfield, and Marion are almost entirely isolated. A sleet storm lashed these [illegible] mercilessly, the frozen d[illegible] leaving a coating of ice o[illegible] of from a half to an i[illegible] more thick, and weighing down so much that they snap in two in many instances. Emergency circuits, however, were hastily being rigged up to tide over the crisis.

A wind, which was slowly gaining strength this morning, was looked upon ominously since it was feared that the slightest swaying of the ice and sleet-covered wires would cause unestimated damage and throw scores of towns out of communication.

Elyria's downtown streets were reported under water which was rapidly freezing and turning into solid blocks of ice

The Tuscarawas and Walhonding rivers at Coshocton ripped out of their banks, flowing two highways out of the city and tying up traffic.

Pursuit Squadron Leaves Cook Field, Dayton, For Flight To Spokane

SELFRIDGE FIELD, MT. CLEMENS, Jan. 10—Eighteen planes of the first pursuit group, accompanied by an observation plane from Cook Field, Dayton, O., hopped off today on their 3,700 mile winter maneuver to Spokane, Wash., and return.

The nineteen ships, equipped with skiis, took to the air from the ice of Lake St. Clair. With the mercury standing at 10 degrees above zero and a biting wind blowing from the northwest, the take-off was in keeping with the purpose of the flight.

KIWANIS HAS ANNIVERSARY

Local Club to Have Program As Part of Nation-Wide Celebration

"The Kiwanis club of Circleville will during the week of Jan. 19 to 25 join with 1851 other clubs of Kiwanis International in observance of the fifteenth anniversary of the founding of the organization," Tom A. Renick, president of the local Club announced today.

"Kiwanis International was organized in Detroit in 1915 and the first regular meeting was held on Jan. 21 of that year. The membership of Kiwanis International, totalling more than 102,000, is contained in Clubs located in 1852 cities, large and small, in the United States and Canada. Horace W. McDavid of Decatur, Illinois, is the International President, having been elected at the June, 1929 convention at Milwaukee, Wisconsin. Kiwanis will hold its 1930 convention in Atlantic City, New Jersey, June 29 to July 3.

"The Circleville club is now six months old," said President Renick "and we have enjoyed the growth and development that has come to the International organization of which we are a chartered and active unit. Together with others comprising the 102,000 membership the local Kiwanians will fittingly observe the anniversary. Program for the Anniversary Week is being prepared by the local club's Committee on Kiwanis Education."

"The major objectives for 1930, which will be restressed at the anniversary meeting include: under privileged child work, vocational guidance and placement, urban-rural relations and social and civic undertakings of a general and specific nature."

Mr. and Mrs. Orrin Dreisbach were business visitors in Columbus Thursday.

RIVER WATERS OVER HIGHWAY WEST OF CITY

Scioto Up To 14 Feet, Seven Inches — Temperature Drops 30 Degrees

Traffic west of Circleville over the Williamsport pike was cut off Thursday evening when water from the overflowed Scioto river covered the highway for a short distance reaching a depth of two feet at certain places. School busses and all other traffic was traveling over the Fox Post Office road.

The river reached its highest point at 14 feet seven inches early Friday and according to Dr. H. R. Clarke, weather observer, was dropping slowing at noon Friday.

A cold wave which is general throughout the state fell over Circleville and Pickaway-co Friday when the mercury which had hovered around the 55 degree mark Thursday dropped to 25 degrees Friday. The cold weather is to become more intense according to weather reports.

Encased under a thick spread of ice following one of the worst sleet storms in years, the greater portion of Ohio lay virtually paralyzed today with communication systems badly crippled and traffic perilously demoralized.

Especially in northern Ohio was the situation serious. Held in a vise of sleet and ice, many bus companies throughout this section cancelled all trips westward today while airplane transportation was cut off entirely. Inter-urban service between Elyria, Oberlin, and Wellington was completely at a standstill.

Nearly 70 long distance telephone circuits were reported out of commission by the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. because of broken wires that were snapped by the heavy weight of ice clinging to them.

Temperatures continued to sag this morning, with drops to 20 degrees or less being reported from various sections.

The sudden freeze, however failed to head off threatened flood tides of rivers in several districts. At Warren, O., last night, the Mahoning river steadily swelled and several towns in the southern part of the state reported that the rising rivers and streams threatened to inundate streets.

Indian Lake stood today at the highest level it has since the 1913 flood, according to residents in that district. The Sandusky river was reported full to the banks and other waterways throughout the state were reported in similar conditions. One road out of Marion was reported under water in several places.

At Greencamp, O., school officials discontinued classes because the children were unable to reach the school.

As the state attempted to crack through its ice covering this morning and survey the damage toll of winter's first offering to 1930, reports sifted through that many towns and villages throughout the state—especially in the northern section—are completely cut off from the outside world.

Communications in approximately 200 towns and villages in northern Ohio are crippled, latest reports from the telephone company said. Wellington and Avon are completely cut off from the outside.

Galion, Bucyrus, Ashland, Shelby, Mansfield, and Marion are almost entirely isolated. The sleet storm lashed these cities mercilessly, the frozen drops leaving a coating of ice on wires of from a half to an inch more thick, and weighing them down so much that they snapped in two in many instances. Emergency circuits, however, were hastily being rigged up to tide over the crisis.

A wind, which was slowly gainging strength this morning, was looked upon ominously since it was feared that the slightest swaying of the ice and sleet-covered wires would cause unestimated damage and throw scores of towns out of communication.

Elyria's downtown streets were reported under water which was rapidly freezing and turning into solid blocks of ice.

The Tuscarawas and Walhonding rivers at Coshocton ripped out of their banks, flowing two highways out of the city and tying up traffic.

SHOW CONTEST GETS STARTED

The big "Yoo-Hoo" contest which is being conducted in connection with the musical comedy by the same name got off to a good start Thursday. FATHER AND SON ARE GRATEFUL TO SPINAGO

Circleville Home Brightened When Mr. Morris and His Son Both Reap the Benefits of Tonic Containing Spinach

Here is a case of a father who will be eternally grateful for Spinago's efficiency And why? Because it not only relieved him of suffering and restored him to health, but it also rebuilt his son's body and freed him from pain which had been caused by disordered digestion and elimination Mr. William Morris, the father, who resides in this city at 118 E Water St., came into the Mykrantz Pharmacy where this master medicine is being introduced to the public with the following remarkable indorsement.

"For about ten years I had been suffering from constipation and stomach trouble During this whole time I tried one medicine after another from drug stores and doctors. The misery was unbearable. I had no appetite whatever My body resistance was weakened and I was in a terribly run down condition. I was about discouraged after having tried so many different medicines over such a long period of time Then I heard of Spinago and what wonderful results other people had derived from it One bottle of Spinago did wonders for me The second bottle did what all other medicines which I tried for ten years failed to do It cured me For the first time in ten years I now enjoy good health My stomach trouble is gone I now have a good healthy appetite and enjoy my meals My bowels are in good shape and my condition is fine I have [illegible] to thank for this wonderful change in me It is a truly wonderful medicine and my son is also grateful for what Spinago has done for him He has been completely made over and freed from stomach and bowel trouules"

Spinago can accomplish such feats because it is a practical tonic made up of nature's own ingredients. In addition to a carefully selected and well balanced assortment of medically valuable roots herbs and barks Spinago contains as its most important ingredient concentrated spinach that most valuable of foods

Suffers from stomach liver and bowel complaints indigestion dyspepsia constipation nervousness rheumatism and recurrent sores are quickly gaining relief and health by the use of Spinago

The Rise of the Automobile

LUXURIOUS CARAVAN EQUIPPED WITH EVERY CONVENIENCE TO BE FOUND IN UP-TO-DATE HOTEL

YOU may now put the back-seat driver to sleep—in a trailer attached to your car! One of the most interesting exhibits at the Automobile Show staged at Grand Central Palace, New York City, is a luxurious caravan attached to a sedan car But what a caravan it is, with more trick gadgets for comfort and convenience than were ever used in even the most luxurious of caravans

The trailer is equipped with four berths, running water, electric lights, and special ventilation apparatus. In fact, it has all the comforts of an up-to-date hotel room. This hotel room on wheels is no wider than an ordinary car, yet the berths used are quite slumber - inducing Of course, there's a trick to it. and it is that the caravan is so designed that it can be opened accordeon-fashion to a width which exceeds that of a railway coach. And so now, a land-cruise can be blithely undertaken, and judging by the interest shown in this new device, it wouldn't be at all surprising, if, next Summer, nearly every automobile had a little trailer all its own

It is a far cry from the luxurious car of today to the peculiar looking contraptions that are the grand-daddies of the various different types of automobiles of the present The early Packards, Oldsmobiles, Buicks and Pierce-Arrows, to mention four of the earliest makes of gasoline-engine vehicles, are unmistakably automobiles for all their rather mirth-provoking appearance But they went, and that was all that was required of a gasoline contraption in those dim dark days when an automobile costume for ladies meant a long "dust" coat, and a hat with goggles and a thick veil

Henry Ford often refers to his first car, which made successful trial runs in 1893 It was driven by a twin cylinder, four cycle water cooled engine, and it made from 25 to 30 miles an hour The first of the crop of old-fashioned Fords was manufactured in 1903 Since then, of course, the Ford car has graduated into the popular luxury class The motor magnate cherishes all the early models of his machine, and proudly claims that they are still in running order.

SUPPOSE you are today paying 50c a tube for your tooth paste (and there are many very good dentifrices selling today at that price).

Suppose, like most people, you buy about twelve tubes during a year. Now if you knew that you could buy as good a dentifrice as can be made and still save each year the price of 25 loaves of bread or 60 bars of soap or 40 pounds of sugar or a box of fine cigars—could you conscientiously fail to take advantage of such an opportunity?

SUPPOSE you are today paying 50c a tube for your tooth paste (and there are many very good dentifrices selling today at that price).

Suppose, like most people, you buy about twelve tubes during a year. Now if you knew that you could buy as good a dentifrice as can be made and still save each year the price of 25 loaves of bread or 60 bars of soap or 40 pounds of sugar or a box of fine cigars—could you conscientiously fail to take advantage of such an opportunity?

That is exactly what you do when you buy Listerine Tooth Paste at 25c for a large tube. Figure it out for yourself.

"KONJOLA GAVE RESULTS THAT ASTONISHED ME"

CINCINNATI MAN HAPPY TO TELL WHAT NEW AND DIFFERENT MEDICINE DID FOR HIM

MR. ALEX JONES

Results are what count, and Konjola can be counted on for results. Consider the experience of Mr. Alex Jones, 225 West Fourth street, Cincinnati, who says of Konjola:

"Konjola gave results in my case that surely astonished me. For four years I suffered agony with muscular rheumatism, and was in bed for weeks at a time Indigestion and constipation added to my misery Every morning found me tired out and exhausted. Medicine after medicine failed me. A friend insisted that I take Konjola; she said she was sure that it was the medicine I needed And Konjola proved to be just that—the medicine I should have had in the first place In four weeks this remarkable medicine corrected all of my ills I have regained all the weight I lost and am feeling fine No wonder Konjola is known as the medicine with more than a million friends."

Konjola is sold in Circleville at Hamilton & Ryan drug store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section

NEW HOLLAND WINS CONTEST

Ashville Junior Order on Short End of Fast 25-24 Game Thursday

In a fast court game, with the score never dividing the teams by more than three points, the New Holland Independents defeated the Junior Order team at Ashville Thursday evening by a score of 25-24

The game started fast and kept up that pace until the final whistle had blown with both teams playing fine, fast ball.

The score at the half was 18-16 in favor of the New Holland tossers

Duvall was high scorer for the winning team with five goals and one foul Sampson was the best man for the Ashville lads scoring five goals.

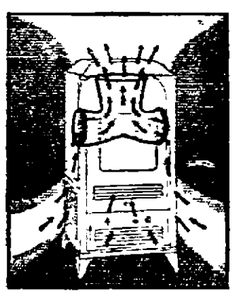
4th Annual HEATROLA "Enjoy-It-Now" Club JANUARY 11th to FEBRUARY 1st

Wanted:- 100 Old Stoves!

Now you can get rid of that wasteful, vexing old stove, around which your family has huddled in discomfort so long. We are ready to take it out—make you a liberal allowance for it—and install a brand-new, 1930-model Heatrola in its place. With the coldest part of the winter still to come—the danger period, when flu and other illnesses abound—healthful, whole-house heat is of the utmost importance. That's the kind of heat you get with the Heatrola, and now is the time to begin enjoying it. Join the "Enjoy-It-Now" Club before February 1st, pay only a small amount down, then no more until Fall. Come in, let us show you the several models of the genuine Heatrola, or telephone and invite us to call.



LOOK INSIDE to be sure you get the genuine. Only the genuine has the wonder Heat-Fire which in the Heatrola heater goes up — the chimney.

Here is our generous offer

1. You pay a membership fee of only $25.00, which is the first payment on your Heatrola.
2. We allow you $10.00 for your old stove ($5.00 if you select a Junior Heatrola). This is also credited on the purchase price.
3. We deliver and install your new Heatrola immediately.
4. Next Fall, with a substantial amount to your credit, you begin regular payments on a convenient monthly basis.

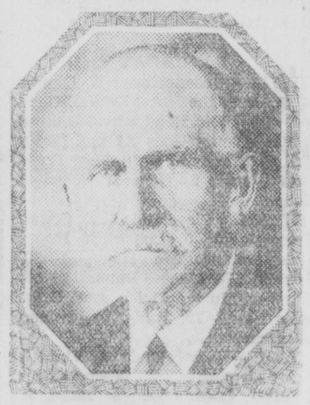
"KONJOLA GAVE RESULTS THAT ASTONISHED ME"

CINCINNATI MAN HAPPY TO TELL WHAT NEW AND DIFFERENT MEDICINE DID FOR HIM



MR. ALEX JONES

Results are what count, and Konjola can be counted on for results. Consider the experience of Mr. Alex Jones, 225 West Fourth street, Cincinnati, who says of Konjola:

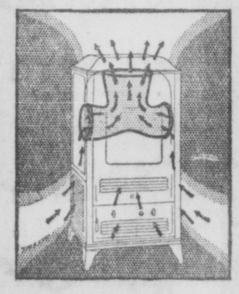
"Konjola gave results in my case that surely astonished me. For four years I suffered agony with muscular rheumatism, and was in bed for weeks at a time. Indigestion and constipation added to my misery. Every morning found me tired out and exhausted. Medicine after medicine failed me. A friend insisted that I take Konjola; she said she was sure that it was the medicine I needed. And Konjola proved to be just that—the medicine I should have had in the first place. In four weeks this remarkable medicine corrected all of my ills. I have regained all the weight I lost, and am feeling fine. No wonder Konjola is known as the medicine with more than a million friends."

Konjola is sold in Circleville at Hamilton & Ryan drug store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

4th Annual HEATROLA "Enjoy-It-Now" Club JANUARY 11th to FEBRUARY 1st

Wanted:- 100 Old Stoves!

Now you can get rid of that wasteful, vexing old stove, around which your family has huddled in discomfort so long. We are ready to take it out—make you a liberal allowance for it—and install a brand-new, 1930-model Heatrola in its place. With the coldest part of the winter still to come—the danger period, when flu and other illnesses abound—healthful, whole-house heat is of the utmost importance. That's the kind of heat you get with the Heatrola, and now is the time to begin enjoying it. Join the "Enjoy-It-Now" Club before February 1st, pay only a small amount down, then no more until Fall. Come in, let us show you the several models of the genuine Heatrola, or telephone and invite us to call.



LOOK INSIDE . . . to be sure you get the genuine. Only the Heatrola has the wonderful Intensi-Fire which in the ordinary heater goes to waste—up the chimney.

Here is our generous offer

1. You pay a membership fee of only $25.00, which is the first payment on your Heatrola.
2. We allow you $10.00 for your old stove ($5.00 if you select a Junior Heatrola). This is also credited on the purchase price.
3. We deliver and install your new Heatrola immediately.
4. Next Fall, with a substantial amount to your credit, you begin regular payments on a convenient monthly basis.

OLD-TIMERS ON THE JOB

At a time when age in industry is becoming a serious problem along comes Charles F. Barth, Chevrolet manufacturing agent, who heads one of the biggest factory organizations in America, saying, "A man is as old as he works."

In other words, judge an employee not by his age, but by his work.

That principal, Mr Barth says he practices as well as preaches He himself is 63. He expects value of every man under him, but holds no man's age against him be he old or young. To the older fellows he pays this impressive tribute:

"The old-timer is valuable in a large sense. Older men are the stabilizing influences so vital to industry today. They help constitute the backbone of the organization. By their balance and poise they instill confidence in beginners and, having themselves a feeling of loyalty to the organization, they inspire it in their fellow-workmen.

"They have that experience which money cannot buy nor book learning provide. They are no longer theorists. They make the most of the opportunities around them, instead of dreaming about the future. They take pride in their service records, built up over a period of years, and apply themselves diligently to preserve them.'

AUTHOR SHEARER

William B. Shearer, is writing a book. In case any one has forgotten, Shearer is the super-lobbyist who made the front page regularly during the Senate's inquiry into the lobbying situation a couple of months ago. He holds that lobbies are as necessary to government as science is to bridge builders

The book is to be titled, "Memoirs of Adventure and Intrigue' and is said to cover the author's thirty-odd years of "the intrigue of international diplomacy." Shearer implies that there will be a whole lot more in the book than ever came out on the witness stand.

Maybe the book will be a best-seller. Maybe it will be suppressed Maybe it will turn out to be very hum-drum and prosy. But there is something to be said for the persistence of Shearer. It begins to look as if the man has a mission in life.

With the census coming next year, some cities are already bragging about how big a population they're going to have in 2030

One of the main troubles in Haiti, it appears, is that the people wanted to vote and their president wouldn't let them. Some of those natives are so full of original sin as to believe in self-determination.

"STORM-TOSSED"

BY HELEN SCHERMERHORN YOUNG

WHAT HAS HAPPENED BEFORE.

BOTH Ned Grier and Dick Grant, college mates, are in love with young and pretty, Enid Monroe. When Dick is sent to Shanghai by the oil company for which both men work, Ned wins Enid by telling her that Dick is living with an Eurasian woman in Shanghai. Enid consents in wounded pride to marry Ned. Dick returns to America, expecting to propose to Enid. He learns she is to be married to Ned very soon and that he is expected to act as best man. He goes to New York and does the honors as best friend of both bride and groom. Returning to San Francisco, he buries himself in his work. On her honeymoon, Enid realizes she did not marry for love.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.)

CHAPTER XVI.

THE two weeks were nearly up. Ned was obliged to return to the office, and Jim Easton was bringing up a party.

Enid sang while she packed her trunk and, as Ned held her in his arms before they left the room where they had loved, she was thinking how nice it would be to get back to New York.

It was good that Enid had come from stern stock—ancestors who had conquered a new country and held it for their own Among her forebears were colonial judges, grim and unyielding, an early governor who had ruled his colony with an iron hand In every war of her country had her family's blood been shed. The fortitude of her ancestors flowed in her veins. She, too, was going into a strange country where there might be heartbreaking disappointments and perhaps hardships with which to grapple

Ned was her husband She was his wife. For him she had affection He had offered to her the chance of love—she had drunk of it deep draughts

Enid sang while she packed her trunk and, as Ned held her in his arms before they left the room where they had loved, she was thinking how nice it would be to get back to New York.

It was good that Enid had come from stern stock—ancestors who had conquered a new country and held it for their own. Among her forebears were colonial judges, grim and unyielding, an early governor who had ruled his colony with an iron hand. In every war of her country had her family's blood been shed. The fortitude of her ancestors flowed in her veins. She, too, was going into a strange country where there might be heartbreaking disappointments and perhaps hardships with which to grapple.

Ned was her husband. She was his wife. For him she had affection. He had offered to her the chalice of love—she had drunk of it deep draughts.

Are all marriages like this? How does one know? She was married to him. She would be a good wife and mother to his children. She would preside over his home with dignity and conscience. Perhaps, after all, that was the important thing in marriage.

THE INVITATION

Get away from it, Dick had planned. Avoid Enid and Ned. That sounded easy. But when Ned's letter came telling of their honeymoon in the Adirondacks and how happy he was and how much they both wanted to see him, Dick had almost as hard a day as those days on the train.

The next day he hurled himself into his work; his brain was so busy that he thought of them only in flashes.

Several times during the year he had the opportunity of going East for the company, but he managed to make it appear that it would be better to send another man.

How different from other years. New York! But to him now New York was almost a terror. He didn't know how he could see Enid again as Ned's wife.

As the months wore on he grew stronger. He never had felt any bitterness. That wasn't fair, and Richard Grant was just—an honest thinker. It was the gnawing ache which was his misery.

"Stay away from New York; stay away from there. That's the thing. Keep away from temptation."

He laughed to himself. Temptation wasn't the word. Torment, that was it. Stay away from the torment.

But the torment came across the three thousand miles to him. It started with a letter from Ned.

Dear old Dick:

Enid and I are going West early in July to spend my vacation at Serana, Dave's ranch. We are coming by way of San Francisco and hope you will be in town. Enid says she is the original tenderfoot and already is getting nervous about the great open spaces.

Then a paragraph devoted to business.

Shortly after Ned's letter arrived, Dave called Dick on the long-distant telephone.

"Hello, Dick."

"That you, Dave?"

"Yes. You know Ned and Enid are coming out?"

"Yes, Ned wrote me."

"Why don't you take your vacation now and come down for the month they are here?"

"That's very kind of you, Dave, but I'm afraid I can't get away just now. Pretty busy these days."

"But you've a vacation coming to you."

"Not just now."

"Then make it the first weekend you can."

"I'll do that. Thanks."

"Well, so long. Come on down as soon as you can. Just send a wire and come along; I've got a new horse for you to try."

Dick had really planned to take his vacation about the time of Ned and Enid's arrival, but after his talk with Dave and the insistent invitation he asked his chief if he could have his vacation changed—he'd rather a month in the Winter.

He wouldn't turn Dave down and refuse flatly. It would have been the most natural thing in the world for him to spend a month at Dave's ranch with his old friends. Wherever they were, it was a foregone conclusion that the trio would gather together if possible. And they all knew that he loved ranch life, and especially ranch life in the mountains with long, hard trails to ride, better than anything on earth. But this could not be. He couldn't stand to be there with Ned and Enid for a whole month and know that they were close to him night and day. And to know that Enid was Ned's wife and that she loved him.

No, there was no necessity for subjecting himself to that punishment. It was hard enough when they were in the East, but to live close to them—that he would not stand.

When word came that it would be satisfactory for him to wait until February for his vacation, he breathed a great sigh of relief. That was over. If Enid and Ned came by the northern route to San Francisco he could be out of town.

But that was a shabby way to treat old Ned. And besides he wanted to see him. He couldn't let this interfere with their long years of friendship.

He'd have to face it. That's all there was to it.

So, when he received news that Ned and Enid were coming via San Francisco for the special purpose of seeing him, he said to his mother:

"Dear, Enid and Ned will be in town for a few days, week after next. I thought you might want to give a dinner for them."

"How lovely!" exclaimed Mrs. Grant. "We'll make out the list right now. Wouldn't you like to invite them to stay here, dear? It would be so nice to have them. Your father would like it, too."

"No—no thank you, Mother. They're only stopping over on their way to Serana. Ned wired me to get rooms at the St. Francis.

The day they were to arrive he was awake with the sun. He breakfasted before his mother and father came down. To the St. Francis he went and saw with his own eyes that the room was like a bridal bower with the beautiful flowers of his country. Enid loved flowers. Wait! She'd never really seen flowers; wait until she saw the flowers of California.

He looked at his watch. He'd planned to take the day off. Before he knew it he was on the train going to Sacramento to meet and surprise them there.

He rode through the hot valley. As he walked back and forth on the platform waiting for the Overland to come in sight, he thought the time would never pass. And the train was on time too.

The whistle blew. There she came all dusty like a veteran hom from the war after her pull across the continent and over the Rockies.

Dick jumped on the train and started through the cars, peering into each compartment. The next car and the next. Then he suddenly saw Ned with his long legs stretched out and his feet on the seat opposite—Enid's shining head snuggled against his shoulder and her hand lying in his.

He stood for a moment to catch his breath.

"Dick!" from Enid, and a louder, joyful "Dick!" from Ned.

Enid reached right up and kissed him. In the confusion of sharp slaps on the back and wringing of hands the flush on Dick's face passed unnoticed.

SERANA.

"Think of any one back home traveling to Albany to greet friend!" exclaimed Enid. "Dick, you're welcoming us to your your native State like royalty. You make me feel regal." And Enid laughed like a child.

Regal? He would have crowned her with a crown of jewels, draped her in velvet and ermine, sat her on a throne and worshiped at her feet.

They had so much to talk about the hours flew. That night they went to Tait's on the beach, to dine, and when Enid said, "Dick, aren't you going to ask me to dance? I've never heard such music in my life," he almost had to wrench himself out of his chair.

During the dance Dick made a bold effort to keep a continual stream of conversation flowing. He talked about everything and anything. Once when Enid turned her head and its soft silkiness brushed his chin he stopped abruptly and led her back to the table.

"What's the matter, old man?" laughed Ned.

They were at a table in one of the small rooms off of the big one. In a few minutes a man with a steel guitar came in, drew a chair up in front of their table and played — played a love song and played it so plaintively and with such longing that Dick thought he could no longer mask his feelings.

He excused himself, left the table and walked out into the foyer on the pretense of getting some cigarettes.

He did not ask Enid to dance again that evening.

Presently they left. As Enid was stepping into Dick's car the strong wind from the Pacific blew her cloak from her shoulder. Dick caught it and gently placed it around her. In doing so his hand touched her soft bare shoulder. He thought he would go mad.

DR. COPELAND SAYS—

Diet and Insulin Control Diabetes

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

DIABETES is a condition resulting from inability of the system to handle properly the sugar which is consumed and which is essential to health. In this disease the body becomes overloaded with sugar or glucose. Other foods cannot be assimilated properly and digestion fails.

DR COPELAND

Persons who have a habit of overeating and who are overweight are subject to it. This tendency to overweight appears to "run in families" and so, in a sense, diabetes may be considered to have a heredity nature. Obesity is usually a forerunner of diabetes.

It is more frequent, too, among people who are mental workers, rather than among manual laborers. Nervous influences have their part to play in the disease as well. It is probable that disturbances in the nervous system interfere with the chemistry of the body.

There are upwards of a million people in the United States today who have diabetes. Some types are very mild in their nature, while others are more severe.

It is encouraging to know, that through a carefully planned diet and the use of insulin treatments, the disease may be kept in control. If a patient will follow certain health rules, he may live long and enjoy a useful life.

The use of insulin in diabetes dates from 1921, when Dr. Frederick G. Banting, in the Toronto General Hospital, made his discovery. He proved it possible to take insulin from the bodies of young animals and use it in injections for the successful treatment of this disease. Its use makes possible the burning of sugar in the body, and it also assists the disposition of fat. This insulin treatment is not taken independently of, but in connection with, a proper and limited diet.

The diabetic patient must first of all follow a carefully planned diet, which is outlined by his physician. The prescribed diet is taken under the most precise regulations. Much can be accomplished by such a regime. The diet necessarily differs with each individual

All reasonable foods may be included, but the total quantity of food should be strictly limited. The patient must be extremely temperate in the use of sweets. Unless frowned upon by the doctor, they may be had in simple desserts, but not between meals.

Highly seasoned foods or sauces cannot be taken Overindulgence of every kind must be avoided. The older person should strive to keep his weight within normal bounds, and this may be accomplished by exercise and a limited diet. But in these matters medical advice is important.

Answers to Health Queries

M. F. A. Q.—What can be done for a little three-year-old girl with catarrhal trouble?

A.—It might be well to try a good nose and throat spray. Perhaps she has adenoids. Consult a nose and throat specialist for the necessary treatment.

Vocalism Unpopular

An inspirational writer says it is a fine thing to be able "to sing in the rain." That depends on the singer. Some of us can hardly sing in the sun, even, without causing it to start to rain—bricks.—Detroit News.

"Poor Me"

The following is an explanation of the use of the ethical dative "me": "Me" is used to express the indirect object in mere reference or mention—that is, to bring into the predicate, as an apparent indirect object, the actual subject (the ethical dative); a form of expression adding a certain life or vivacity to colloquial speech, and, therefore, "Poor me!" a favorite expression used by Shakespeare and other Elizabethan dramatists.

Always a Good Joke

The story about the Irishman who exclaimed: "I don't like lettuce, and I'm glad I don't like it, for if I liked it I'd eat it, and I hate the dom'd stuff," is apparently based on an entry in the "Intimate Diary" of George Sand—made nearly 100 years ago—which reads: "I'm glad I don't care for spinach, for if I liked it I should eat it, and I cannot bear spinach."—Boston Globe.

Destructive Bears

All species of bears are fond of honey. They frequently climb bee trees in search of their favorite food. It is said that in Siberia much damage is done to telegraph and telephone poles by bears climbing up in search of honey. The animals are misled by the humming of the wires and suppose the noise to be caused by colonies of bees.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Inventor Honored

In the public square at Bardstown, Ky., is a monument to Lieut. John Fitch as the inventor of the steamboat. By a unanimous vote the United States Senate and house approved on February 12, 1926, an appropriation of $15,000 for a suitable monument to Lieutenant Fitch. The memorial was unveiled with impressive ceremonies on May 25, 1927.

Joint Monarchy

Why the reign of William III of England is called that of William and Mary is thus explained: Mary was the daughter of James II, and the crown was conferred jointly upon her and her husband, William, who was the grandson of Charles I of England. The death of Mary, at the end of five years, lessened the popularity of the king.

No Real National Anthem

Congress has never passed any act designating an official national anthem. "The Star-Spangled Banner" has, however, received recognition in both the army and navy regulations. It is played at the time of flag lowering at army forts and on battleships, as well as on other ceremonial occasions. "My Country 'Tis of Thee" is also regarded by many as our national anthem or hymn.

Another Ideal

The ideal husband is one whose faults are just prominent enough so his wife can use them as excuse for an occasional blowing up to relieve her feelings when she is out of sorts with things in general.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Unwise Conservation

Some have narrowed their minds and so fettered them with the chains of antiquity that not only do they refuse to speak save as the ancients spake, but they refuse to think save as the ancients thought. —Savonarola.

Pride and Vanity

Vanity is a confounded donkey, very apt to put his head between his legs and chuck us over; but pride is a fine horse, that will carry us over the ground, and enable us to distance our fellow-travelers.—Marryat.

Orange Cultivation

Oranges are raised in the southern part of California, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Georgia, Louisiana and Texas. They are too delicate to grow farther north than the thirty-second parallel.

Theatres

AT THE CLIFTONA

Dialogue as she is spoke. A whiff of fresh plot ideas. Legs. Curves. Pulchritude with a pull. Good music, good singing, clever lines. That describes "The Girl From Woolworth's," which is heading a good bill at the Cliftona theater Friday and Saturday.

But it doesn't halfway describe the genuine enjoyment you're going to get from this First National and Vitaphone offering, because we haven't mentioned Alice White, the dynamic little star of the piece, and the rest of a really great cast.

There's a magic about Alice. Little and lively and brave, and packed with sex appeal, she steps in where the film's peerless beauties fear to tread and dances circles around them in winning your heart. She did it in "Show Girl" and "Broadway Babies," both talkies. But you haven't seen her at her best until you see her in "The Girl From Woolworth's."

Here, talking, singing and dancing at the head of a night-club chorus, she impresses the magic of her personality on you. You understand how she "came up" in the film industry from stenographer to star in two years.

Charles Delaney, that engaging young Irish ace of the World War and stunt flier of the movies, who played opposite Miss White in "Broadway Babies," is again her leading man. Wheeler Oakman, Ben Hall, Gladden James, Bert Moorehouse, Rita Flynn, Patricia Caron, William Orlamond and Milla Davenport appear in support.

AT THE GRAND

Rip, roaring Bob Steele, that favorite of all western pictures, plays the leading role in the Grand theatre feature, Friday entitled "Heading for Danger." The story is a mighty thriller of the Mexican Badlands and brings you to your feet on numerous occasions.

The fourth chapter of "Tarzan, the Tiger" and a talking comedy are also listed.

10 YEARS AGO

Fire early Sunday morning reduced to ashes the Town Hall at Williamsprt and completely gutted the Christian church.

The loss is estimated at between $8,000 and $10,000, a part of which is covered by insurance, $2,000 being carried on the church and $5,000 on the Town hall. The falling walls of the church caught John Hess and Ray Smiley injuring both badly.

The fire originated in the loft of the church.

Circleville's fire department answered the call.

Ambition Fulfilled

At Twyford, England, George Enderby, at the age of seventy, achieved his life's ambition. He utilized his savings of sixty-three years to erect a tombstone to the memory of his mother, buried in the little churchyard. Enderby's mother died when he was seven years old. He decided then that he regularly would bank his savings until he had sufficient to erect the memorial.

LYNCH, MAGICIAN IN "YOO HOO" COMEDY

Mack. Parrett,. Jr.,. as. Old Young Man Also Has Leading Role

Through hypnotism and mental suggestion Joe Lynch, as "Blackie" the correspondence school hypnotist in "Yoo-Hoo," the big musical success, causes no end of fun and general mixups. His continued passes and repeating of the magic word "Yoo-Hoo" causes Mack Parrett, Jr., a lot of worry. Mack is the old man with young ideas but it is too much for him when Blackie causes Eloise Hanley as a Chinese laundry girl to believe that she is the old man's sweetheart. The efforts of Parrett to explain things gets everyone in wrong and according to Ed. Ebert who saw "Yoo-Hoo" in Washington C. H., it is not until just three minutes before the final curtain that the audience will have any idea of the outcome.

Mr. Lynch will sing the comedy theme song of the play which together with a fast stepping dance by Joe and eight of the "Legion Rockets" will make what is claimed by the committee to be one of the peppiest scenes ever seen on a local stage.

Mr. Parrett will be a "wow" in his song "Painting the Clouds" from "Gold Diggers of Broadway." With him will be the "Sunshine Boys."

All this will happen and many other things when the American Legion Drum Corps presents the sensational musical comedy which is being advertised as the "Peppiest, Jazziest, Danciest and Funniest musical comedy ever staged by local people."

It will be given in Memorial hall on the remodeled and especially equipped stage Thursday, Jan. 23, matinee and night.

Club Plays Fine Game But Loses To Pontiac

BRAWN, EXPERIENCE PROVE TOO BIG A HANDICAP FOR LOCAL TEAM; SCORE 45 - 34

'Twas a sweet basketball game at the C. A. C. Thursday evening for three quarters. At the end of the first three sessions of play the club team, passing, shooting, dribbling and guarding closely, played the big and mighty Pontiac, Mich., team to a standstill and at the end of the third session held a lead of one point, 27-26.

But since basket ball games usually are played in four periods the Club lost their second game of the season to the Pontiac battlers. The final score was 45-34.

The Club started out like world beaters and with Art Steele evading Tennebaum long enough to score two rapid buckets and a free throw the Club was off to a five to nothing lead before the large crowd which witnessed the game knew what was coming off.

Then Hump Campbell, giant Pontiac center, who played here a while back with the Olsen Swedes netted a one hand shot under the net and the invading team was off. Gordon followed with two fouls, and Steele came right back with another free throw. Merriman took a fast pass under the net and score a two-pointer. Pontiac took time out to get reorganized. Jones scored a foul for Pontiac and the first period ended 12-5 in favor of the Club.

Schecter and Dickie added four Points to the Pontiac score before Parks followed a shot for a goal. Campbell scored for Pontiac and Steele came through with a goal. Wampler scored a foul goal and Merriman got set from the side and scored a goal. The first half ended 20-14 in favor of the Club team.

3rd PERIOD FAST

The third was probably the fastest period of the game with the Pontiac boys coming within one point of the Club.

Wampler scored two fouls and then a goal. Gordon scored from under the net. Campbell found the net.

Gordon scored a pretty one hand shot from the corner and Schecter came through for Pontiac. Wampler scored a goal and Campbell scored a one hand shot from under the net that put Pontiac ahead. Merriman's foul tied the count and Art Steele's shot from the side put the Club back in the lead at the end of the period. The score was 27-26.

The game was lost to the Club at the epening of the fourth period when Campbell and Wampler colloborated to score enough points to put Pontiac far enough ahead that the issue of the game was never in doubt. Campbell and Wampler scored from many angles on the court and although the C. A. C. tossers played for all they were worth they couldn't overcome the lead these two boys piled up.

STEELE HIGH

Art Steele was high point man for the Club with five baskets and three fouls Wampler with six goals and three fouls and Campbell with seven goals was high for Pontiac.

Johnny Miner, former O. S. U. star, was not in the Pontiac line-up. Harley Pierce, Columbus, handled the game very efficiently.

JONES FIGHTS GREAT SHIRES

Man Who Started at Center For Pontiac Has Contract For Fight, Jan. 21

Although the majority of basketball fans who watched the C. A. C. Pontiac game Thursday night weren't aware of the fact, they were watching a man who has a contract in his pocket to fight the great Art Shires at Flint, Mich., on Jan. 21.

That person was Reese Jones, the big rough-looking fellow who started at center and changed positions with Hump Cambell late in the game.

Jones is a professional football player and in a fight can also take care of himself.

GORDON TIRES ANNEX ROUGH COURT GAME

Defeat Kingston, by 23-17 Score in Game That Resembles Battle Royal

A crash, a slam, then the sound of body against body, and the thud of a player against the floor. Those were a few of the things which kept a good crowd of basketball fans in a continuous uproar at C. A. C. Thursday evening when the Gordon Tire basketball team sporting new flaming red uniforms made short work of the Kingston Merchants. The score was 23-17.

Never before has a game like this one been seen. First a Kingston man would foul a Gordon, vice versa, until even the referee was fortunate that he wasn't caught by a hay-maker.

The game started in fast style with both teams showing a willingness to mix things up The Gordons held a lead of 8-6 at the end of the opening setto. They increased their lead to 12-9 in the second period when Hanley got loose for two action goals.

ASSURE VICTORY

Then came the third period that spelled defeat for the Kingston lads. Joe Barnes went wild in this session and scored himself three buckets and a free throw while Courtright was adding a goal. The score at the end of this period was 21-11 in favor of the local team.

With Enoch beginning to hit the net, and the battle becoming hotter every minute, the Kingston team outscored the Gordons, six to two in the final period, but the margin was too much and the game ended 23-17 in favor of the local team.

Glenn Rader refereed the game.

KROGER LOSES TO GRANTMEN IN SLOW TIFF

Flying Clouds Show Only Flashes of Form in 25 to 8 Court Contest

The Grant Flying Cloud basketball team won another court contest Thursday evening from the newly organized Kroger team in a game of which nothing much was a feature. The score was 25-8.

The fray was slow and after the Grants had secured a lead of seven to nothing in the first period, not another point was scored in the entire half which ended 7-0 in favor of the Grants.

Both teams in the second period showed a marked tendency to do everything but catch the ball. It was booted and heaved into the crowd almost as much as it was played on the court.

COME TO LIFE

The third period saw both teams snap out of their lethargy and the Grantmen scored eight more points while the Krogers put a six in front of their score. The Flying Clouds continued their scoring in the final session and counted 10 points while the Krogers scored but two points.

Wefler with four goals was high pointman for the Grants followed by Glitt with three field goals. The Kroger scoring was evenly divided.

Dick Robinson refereed the game.

Accurate Building

In the great pyramid of Cizeh there are 2,300,000 stones. Their average weight is two and a half tons each, but some of them weigh 50 tons each. The builders displayed an accuracy almost equal to opticians' work, but on a scale of acres instead of inches. The blocks were filed and squared with an accuracy seldom equaled in building operations today.

Club Plays Fine Game But Loses To Pontiac

BRAWN, EXPERIENCE PROVE TOO BIG A HANDICAP FOR LOCAL TEAM; SCORE 45 - 34

'Twas a sweet basketball game at the C. A. C. Thursday evening for three quarters. At the end of the first three sessions of play the club team, passing, shooting, dribbling and guarding closely, played the big and mighty Pontiac, Mich., team to a standstill and at the end of the third session held a lead of one point, 27-26.

But since basket ball games usually are played in four periods the Club lost their second game of the season to the Pontiac battlers. The final score was 45-34.

The Club started out like world beaters and with Art Steele evading Tennebaum long enough to score two rapid buckets and a free throw the Club was off to a five to nothing lead before the large crowd which witnessed the game knew what was coming off.

Then Hump Campbell, giant Pontiac center, who played here a while back with the Olsen Swedes netted a one hand shot under the net and the invading team was off. Gordon followed with two fouls, and Steele came right back with another free throw. Merriman took a fast pass under the net and score a two-pointer. Pontiac took time out to get reorganized. Jones scored a foul for Pontiac and the first period ended 12-5 in favor of the Club.

Schecter and Dickie added four Points to the Pontiac score before Parks followed a shot for a goal. Campbell scored for Pontiac and Steele came through with a goal. Wampler scored a foul goal and Merriman got set from the side and scored a goal. The first half ended 20-14 in favor of the Club team.

3rd PERIOD FAST

The third was probably the fastest period of the game with the Pontiac boys coming within one point of the Club.

Wampler scored two fouls and then a goal. Gordon scored from under the net. Campbell found the net.

Gordon scored a pretty one hand shot from the corner and Schecter came through for Pontiac. Wampler scored a goal and Campbell scored a one hand shot from under the net that put Pontiac ahead. Merriman's foul tied the count and Art Steele's shot from the side put the Club back in the lead at the end of the period. The score was 27-26.

The game was lost to the Club at the epening of the fourth period when Campbell and Wampler collaborated to score enough points to put Pontiac far enough ahead that the issue of the game was never in doubt. Campbell and Wampler scored from many angles on the court and although the C. A. C. tossers played for all they were worth they couldn't overcome the lead these two boys piled up.

STEELE HIGH

Art Steele was high point man for the Club with five baskets and three fouls Wampler with six goals and three fouls and Campbell with seven goals was high for Pontiac.

Johnny Miner, former O. S. U. star, was not in the Pontiac line-up. Harley Pierce, Columbus, handled the game very efficiently.

JONES FIGHTS GREAT SHIRES

Man Who Started at Center For Pontiac Has Contract For Fight, Jan. 21

Although the majority of basketball fans who watched the C. A. C. Pontiac game Thursday night weren't aware of the fact, they were watching a man who has a contract in his pocket to fight the great Art Shires at Flint, Mich., on Jan. 21.

That person was Reese Jones, the big rough looking fellow who started at center and changed positions with Hump Cambell late in the game.

Jones is a professional football player and in a fight can also take care of himself.

GORDON TIRES ANNEX ROUGH COURT GAME

Defeat Kingston by 23-17 Score in Game That Resembles Battle Royal

A crash, a slam, then the sound of body against body, and the thud of a player against the floor. Those were a few of the things which kept a good crowd of basketball fans in a continuous uproar at C. A. C. Thursday evening when the Gordon Tire basketball team sporting new flaming red uniforms made short work of the Kingston Merchants. The score was 23-17.

Never before has a game like this one been seen. First a Kingston man would foul a Gordon, vice versa, until even the referee was fortunate that he wasn't caught by a hay-maker.

The game started in fast style with both teams showing a willingness to mix things up. The Gordons held a lead of 8-6 at the end of the opening setto. They increased their lead to 12-9 in the second period when Hanley got loose for two action goals.

ASSURE VICTORY

Then came the third period that spelled defeat for the Kingston lads. Joe Barnes went wild in this session and scored himself three buckets and a free throw while Courtright was adding a goal. The score at the end of this period was 21-11 in favor of the local team.

With Enoch beginning to hit the net, and the battle becoming hotter every minute, the Kingston team outscored the Gordons, six to two in the final period, but the margin was too much and the game ended 23-17 in favor of the local team.

Glenn Rader refereed the game.

KROGER LOSES TO GRANTMEN IN SLOW TIFF

Flying Clouds Show Only Flashes of Form in 25 to 8 Court Contest

The Grant Flying Cloud basketball team won another court contest Thursday evening from the newly organized Kroger team in a game of which nothing much was a feature. The score was 25-8.

The fray was slow and after the Grants had secured a lead of seven to nothing in the first period, not another point was scored in the entire half which ended 7-0 in favor of the Grants.

Both teams in the second period showed a marked tendency to do everything but catch the ball. It was booted and heaved into the crowd almost as much as it was played on the court.

COME TO LIFE

The third period saw both teams snap out of their lethargy and the Grantmen scored eight more points while the Krogers put a six in front of their score. The Flying Clouds continued their scoring in the final session and counted 10 points while the Krogers scored but two points.

Wefler with four goals was high pointman for the Grants followed by Glitt with three field goals. The Kroger scoring was evenly divided.

Dick Robinson refereed the game.

Loosen—Lift Out

A little known Japanese herb, the discovery of an eminent German scientist (Dr. Stickel) instantly soothes the corn, then loosens it so that shortly you can lift it right out. This new discovery called "Corn Fly" excites the white blood corpuscles to action and granulates the corn at its root. "Corn Fly" for corns, 35c. "Corn Fly Foot Bath Powder" 25c, and "Corn Fly Bunion Remedy" 50c, are sold under a positive money-back guarantee by Hi-Gene Co, Newark, N. J., or local druggist.

IN MEMORIAM
WILLIAM F. M'COMMIS

Oft and oft our hearts do wander
To a grave not far away;
Where we laid our dear love one
Just two years ago, today.

When the evening shades are falling,
And we are sitting all alone;
There comes a silent longing—
If he only could come home.

Some may think we are not lonely
When at times they see us smile;
Little do they know the heartache
What we suffer all the while.

Sadly missed by wife and daughter.

BROTHERS ARE HELD IN JAIL

Roy and Clarence Payns, Deer-creek-twp, Held on Two Alleged Charges

Roy and Clarence Payne, Deer-creek-twp are being held in the county jail pending a hearing on charges of operating a car without license plates and disorderly conduct. The two men were arrested at 11 p. m. Thursday when the sheriff's office was called to stop a disturbance in Wayne-twp near the Cary Short farm where the Payne's had backed their Dodge sedan off the bridge over Yellowbud creek and into the water.

The Dodge was emerged in water when sheriff's authorities arrived.

Roy was arrested for disorderly conduct filed by a Mr. Boyer and Clarence was arrested for failure to have license plates.

A third member of the party ran when the authorities arrived and has not been arrested.

Blue Ribbon for Nation's Healthiest Girl

FLORENCE SMOCK, seventeen, of Lake County, Florida, was adjudged the girl health champion of the United States at the National Congress of 4-H Clubs held in connection with recent International Livestock Exposition in Chicago. When reporters gravely asked her to what she attributed her unusual health she sweetly answered, like a true Floridian "To citrus fruits and sunshine and plenty of sleep."

She loves to dance and has a beau or two, she admitted, but "They have to go home early."

She and Harold Deatline of Indiana, the boy health champion, were selected by an impressive array of physicians from the twenty-six health delegates who represented the seven hundred and fifty-two thousand members of the juvenile rural organization that is helping to raise the standards of farm life. She scored ninety-eight and eight-tenths and he, ninety-nine and two-tenths per cent perfect. Each was one hundred per cent happy.

POSTPONE PIANO PLAYING DATE

In order to permit the children more time to prepare for the piano playing contest, the date has been changed from Jan. 17 to Friday, Jan. 31.

The contest is open to all children up to 16 years of age and living within a radius of 15 miles of Circleville.

There is no charge to enter this contest and an opportunity to win a useful prize is being given by the Starr Piano Co., Sales Corporation E Franklin-st, next door to the postoffice. These prizes will be exhibited in the window of the store the week of the contest.

The children will be divided into three classes. Class 1 —Children under 10 years. Class 2—10 to 12 years inclusive. Class 3— 13 to 15 years inclusive.

Entry blanks will appear in The Herald Friday, Jan. 10, Friday, Jan. 17 and Friday, Jan. 24.

MRS. MORRIS IS SPEAKER

Deeds, mortgages and liens took on a new meaning to members of the Business and Professional Women's Club, who were present at the meeting in the club rooms on Thursday evening.

Mrs. Mary Morris, county recorder, explained the many and varied duties of her department. Starting with the historical features of early deeds and land distribution in Pickaway-co, she brought her listeners to present day proceedings, and the close contact with the personal and business affairs of the community.

During the business meeting several prospective club activities were discussed and action taken on the club's co-operation with the Benevolent Society.

The hospitality committee, of which Miss Sally Lynch is chairman, announced a card party, for club members, to be held at the home of Miss Helen Rowe, on Wednesday evening, Jan. 15th.

The next regular meeting of the club, on Jan. 23rd, will be a supper meeting with Mrs. Will Fitzpatrick, chairman of the social committee, and Mrs. Ruth Steele Smith of the Winorr Canning Co., in charge.
